We expect the demand for such a package to be limited, so this special and exclusive edition will be available by subscription only. All subscribers to this first print-run will have their names published in a 'List of Subscribers' to be printed in the back of the booklet included with the package.

Subscriptions are being accepted from Friday 25 November until midnight on Monday 5 December. Once the closing date has passed, no further names will be added to the list of subscribers - regardless of how short or how long the list is at that point.

All musicians thrive on the support and encouragement they receive for their music. While this is a rare opportunity for those who have followed and encouraged James over the past few years, and everyone who connects with his music, to express their support, it also serves as a way for that continued support to be acknowledged by James (and the All Night North record label), in a permanent and tangible way.
